One after one, as dwindling hours, Youth's golden hopes have dropped

I am not young, I am not old; The flush of morn, the sunset calm, Paling and deepening, each to each,

One side I see the summer fields, Not yet disrobed of all their green; While westerly, along the hills, Flame the first time of frosty sheen.

Ahl middle point where clouds and storm
Make battle ground of this my life!
Where even-mutched, the night and day Wago round me their September strife

I how me to the threatening gale, I know, when that is overpast, Among the peaceful harvest days, An Indian summer comes at last.

THE EMPEROR WILLIAM'S HOME

The Emperor does not seem to have anything he wishes to conceal. I spent a very interesting hour in pass ing through the palace, which is his constant city residence. It is not very grand, or even sumptuous. But enter it, and you at once feel that you are in the home of a soldier. It is almost an arsonal, it is so warlibe every way. Old armor, and new armor, fragments of shells-the mementoes of battles, models of different kinds of soldiers in their appropriate uniform, mede's of various guns, great relief mins of battle-fields and for resecs-these me everywhere about. Almost all the platures ti o are martial-battle seene after battle seene; some of of er conflicts, others of modern fights in which the Emperor himself is the conspicuous figure I went into the Emperor's private study and library. I saw the chair in which he sits, the desk at which he writes, the pile of dispatches awaiting his attention, the books he uses, the japer resh from his hand. It is manifestil a workman's place, this study. The grim old Eupperer is, evidently, no idlor. He keeps his hand on things. preserving the hair. It soon restores faned or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead The Bazar is edited with a contribution of the find the thet we selder find in any lournal; and the tournal itself its the cryate of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional uso will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the forma-tion of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only Postage free to all Subscribers in the U.S. benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, Haltneindes proportion of U. S. postage nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambrie, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care. Its effects are as wonderful and as satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded lair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff. It gives the head a cooling, soothing sensation of great comfort, and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong. As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

A. A. Hayes, M. D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes." Price, One Dollar.

Buckingham's Dye FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be clied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other un-desirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one proparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rnb nor wash off.
